

Big picture: Homo Ludens by Katrin Korfmann

Each week, the Guardian Weekend magazine's editorial team choose a picture, or set of pictures, that particularly tickle their fancy. This week, their choice is Katrin Korfmann's aerial images

Fri 1 Feb 2013 16.30 GMT

Homo Ludens 22

Schoolchildren play chase in a playground in Amsterdam, their elongated, ink-black shadows looking, from this bird's-eye vantage point, like Lowry-esque running, skipping figures against a bright, bouncy floor. Seen from a distance - the photograph is 145cm wide - the effect is of a shadow theatre. →

